

Prof. Józef Dubiński, PhD DSc Eng.
Assoc. Prof. Marian Turek, PhD DSc Eng.
Assoc. Prof. Jan Wachowicz, PhD DSc Eng.

HARD COAL MINING AND THE IDEA OF SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

References

1. Dubiński J.: Fundamental problems characterising the relation between the process of restructuring of the Polish hard coal mining sector and the man and environment. In “Man and environment towards the hard coal mining restructuring process” (in Polish). Collective work edited by J. Dubiński. Library of the Underground Exploitation School, series with the Mining Lamp, No 6, 2001, p.3-13.
2. Ministry of Economy. Information about the course of realisation of hard coal mining reform (in Polish). Annual report for 2000. Warsaw, February 2001.
3. Programme of hard coal mining restructuring in Poland in the years 2003-2006 with the use of anticrisis acts and initiation of privatisation of some mines, adopted by the Council of Ministers in 20 November 2002 (in Polish). (with corrections resulting from the agreement between the government side and trade union side of 11 December 2002 and corrections resulting from the sector’s legal state on 10 January 2003). Ministry of Economy. Labour and Social Policy. Warsaw, January 2003.
4. Programme of environmental protection for mines and plants being members of the Coal Company JSC (in Polish). Katowice, April 2004.
5. Ecological policy of the state for the period 2003-2006 taking into account the perspectives for 2007-2010 (in Polish). Document adopted by the Council of Ministers, Warsaw, December 2002.
6. Hard coal mining restructuring in Poland in the period 2004-2006 and strategy for the years 2007-2010 (in Polish). Ministry of Economy, Labour and Social Policy, Warsaw, April 2004.
7. Turek M.: Changes of mine structures and technical-economic indices in the hard coal mining restructuring process (in Polish). Monograph, Edit. GIG (CMI), Katowice 2003.